Making a map (30 minutes /G/)	4. Making a map First step: Make up a title./f.ex.: “The town of my dream”, “My town-Aktobe”- they can describe one of the parts of town, “My town- Temir”/ It should catch the audience’s attention, it should be brief and informative and invite them to read more. Second step: Give an overview. An overview is a brief but clear. Create an introduction that is clearly organised and creative, which makes the reader want to continue reading. Third step: The information should be easily readable. Learners can use different colours for the signs. Fourth step: Proofread and edit. When learners finish creating their maps, each group exchanges their maps with the other classmates to proofread and check for grammar, spelling and formatting errors. 5e0ae21e3f061.png Image not found or type unknown Assessment criteria: I -Is the title eye-catching? - Does it give the reader a clear idea of what is going to be presented? -Does it make the reader want to read on? At the end learners vote for the best map, using stickers. The map, which gets more stickers will win. Criteria for assessing a leaflet - Catchy design - Easy to understand the main idea - Accurate grammar and spelling Teacher motivates learners to justify their choices why they have singled out this or that map. Differentiation: Having finished with sharing the ideas some of the more advanced learners can provide their classmates with the productive feedback	Handout 1

Reflection (5 minutes (I))	Reflection Learners provide feedback on what they have learned at the lesson. Learners will continue the following sentences: In this lesson I have learnt about..... It was interesting to create a map... The most difficult thing in creating maps was....	this activity can be done orally Reflective journals
